Steele Memorial Medical Center Brings Oncology Services to Lemhi and Custer Counties

Steele Memorial Medical Center is pleased to announce and welcome Andrew Scott Pierson, MD to the Steele Memorial Medical Center Outpatient Clinic. Dr. Pierson is a board-certified medical oncologist and hematologist. He attended Princeton University as an undergraduate where he majored in political science. He then attended Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia and graduated magna cum laude. Dr. Pierson completed his internal medicine residency and fellowships at the University of Colorado. Dr. Pierson and his family have resided in Pocatello since August of 2004. He loves the small town atmosphere where he can practice high quality medicine. With a love for the great outdoors, he is an avid downhill and cross-country skier during the winter and enjoys fly fishing and playing golf in the summer.

Dr. Pierson is employed with Portneuf Medical Center in Pocatello, and will be seeing patients the third Monday of each month in the Outpatient Specialty Clinic. Victoria Alexander-Lane, CEO commented "We are extremely pleased to bring oncology services to Lemhi and Custer Counties, and believe Dr. Pierson will deliver exceptional care to our patients."
